

WMXV Radio Station

1120 AVENUE OF THE AMERICAS
NEW YORK CITY

Radio Station WMXV relocated its entire office and broadcast operation to a 22,000 SF floor in a major Midtown Manhattan office building. Goshow Architects, in association with James Ritchie, AIA, was involved in every aspect of the project, from assisting the owner in locating space and negotiating the lease through contractor selection and construction administration on a fast track schedule. This is a project where the technical demands are great. Acoustical isolation, heat-generating broadcast equipment, emergency energy generation, and a sophisticated air conditioning system, are all woven into a functional modern design. Coordination among all technical experts and the contractor was the key to our role in successfully prosecuting the work.
