

It survived the winter, and what a winter it was, the snow was over the bottom of the windows. Still need to fix the roof drain. First of the planter boxes in place, loaded with dirt and ready to go.

Here are the plants. Didn't get a chance to photograph them after they went in, but I'll get one next trip up.